Hi Hana Luxvita team,

Thank you for coordinating the wedding on October 17. I appreciate that Jordan stepped in and that the vendors were ultimately able to operate.

After reviewing the wedding day, however, I am not satisfied that the full-service planning and coordination package was delivered as promised.

First, the coordinator change occurred the night before the wedding. Jordan was professional, but he was not the planner I had worked with throughout the year. I had to repeat several details at the venue that I had already discussed with Maya, including the timing of the family photographs and the floral placement.

Second, the floral design used the blush spray roses rather than the blush garden roses originally discussed. I understand the availability issue, but the final result was materially different from the look I had selected during planning.

Third, during the reception transition, I had to personally answer a question from the DJ about the order of two reception events because the information was not immediately available to him. The program ultimately continued, but I had expected Hana Luxvita's coordination function to handle those coordination questions without involving me.

Finally, although the wedding occurred, I believe the repeated coordination issues before the event and the last-minute coordinator substitution reduced the value of the full-service package I purchased.

I am requesting a refund of $1,500 from the $3,000 initial payment.

I am not claiming that Hana Luxvita performed no services. I am requesting a partial refund because I believe the services were materially less complete and less consistent than the package promised.

Please provide Hana Luxvita's position and refund calculation in writing.

Thank you,
Sophia Bennett
